Hi Brian. I should clarify that if your client decides to apply for a rezoning to a Planned Development District then the additional $850 fee will be required. If not, no additional fee is needed. Thanks, Jessica

Hi Brian. As discussed in our meeting on Tuesday, the above application is not complete. While you are preparing the amended application, we would like for you to pick up the incomplete submission. Once the application is complete, you can submit it with the additional $850 fee for the Planned Development District.

Please feel free to contact me with any questions. Thanks, Jessica

Hi Ela,

Do you have time for a quick meeting this week to discuss the Town's preferred path on zoning? We are not opposed to a new PDD but need to discuss your preferred.

Hi Brian,

The Planning staff has conducted a preliminary review of the subject application in order to initiate the coordinated review in accordance with SEQRA. As was noted in preapplication meetings and the submitted paperwork, your client intends to exceed the maximum allowable height and floor area ratio in the Industrial 1 district. The Planning staff suggested that a new Planned Development District be created in order to avoid setting a precedent within the Industrial 1 district as these would be variances of significant magnitude. Your team suggested modifying the Industrial 1 district requirements to allow exceeding these maximums provided certain criteria were met, namely for a property of considerable size such as the subject property.

Please be advised that the submitted FEAF states that no amendment of an ordinance or regulation is required (which is necessary per your client's stated intentions), nor is the Zoning Board of Appeals listed as an involved agency in the event a code amendment is not pursued and thus variances would be required. Accordingly, the FEAF needs to be modified to accurately characterize the proposed action. I emphasize once more that the Planning staff recommends that a new PDD is the preferred mechanism for effecting the proposed action, should it be approved by the Town Board.

I will be away until Tuesday, August 11 and Jessica Joyce will be away until Monday, August 3. Should you wish to discuss this further in our absence, please contact Commissioner Dokonal at the number below.
